VETO AWAITS BILL.

work along, but would not expect Congress to do anything more until next December. He gave the hope of speedy adjournment, for the President's mind is made up.

READY FOR COMPROMISE.

Also Mr. Underwood indicates the probable abandonment of any purpose of sticking out for the original House wool measure, thus creating a deadlock that would result in nothing.

After all angles have been considered, the Democratic House leaders seem to be willing to accept some compromise and give President Taft the final move in the game.

There is a possibility of the House accepting the Senate amendments to the tariff bill, thereby avoiding a conference on the measure and perhaps getting it to the President ahead of the wool revision bill.

Apparently the President has no objection to which comes first. His theory as to the wool measure already has been made known, and with respect to the free list, he will veto it on the ground that, in place of that article on the free list no attention has been given to the effect of this action on other articles in the same schedules from which certain things have been picked out for entry without any duty whatever.

Particularly he has in mind wire rods etc., which it is proposed to free list without reference to corresponding changes that ought to be considered in connection with the metal schedules.

The House conferees on the wool bill, appointed by Speaker Clark to be Chairman Underwood, Randall of Texas, and Harrison of Dallas, Democrats, and Payne and Dillard, Republicans.

THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

Although the regulars of the Senate Finance Committee previously declared they washed their hands of wool for the time being, it is now planned to have Senator Payne serve as a conferee, his colleagues to be La Follette and Bailey. The completion of the Conference Committee affords plenty of speculation.

Representative Harrison is a free wool Democrat, and has criticized the Senate Democrats for playing stalling politics in the tariff revision.

However, it is felt some agreement will be reached. An idea that has gained some credence is that the Democratic leaders have made a pipe line into the secret chambers of the tariff board and are led to believe that they can anticipate the board's recommendations.

President Taft, it is understood, has gone so far as to give out some of the things he proposes to say in his veto message. He will point out that in his annual message to Congress he will recommend a revision of lines of revision for wool and cotton, and if things go as they seem likely, he expects to call upon the tariff board for a report upon which to base a revision of the metal schedule.

ACT ON BOARD'S REPORT.

It also will be pointed out by the President that the tariff revision board is set about before the tariff board has rendered a report, have thereby put themselves in a position where they cannot consistently but any revision that is proposed next winter as a result of the tariff board's investigations.

REAPPORTIONMENT BILL UP.

SENATOR BURTON OPPOSES IT.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The reapportionment bill, increasing the membership of the House from 351 to 433, was taken up in the Senate today on motion of Senator Penrose, following the disposition of the free list bill.

The vote will be taken Thursday. Senator Burton of Ohio spoke in opposition to the measure.

CONFESSED BRIBE-TAKER TESTIFIES IN LORIMER CASE

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—All day Charles A. White, the confessed bribe-taker of the Illinois Legislature, was on the witness stand before the Senate Lorimer committee, telling his tale of corruption and when the committee adjourned until tomorrow, his story had not been completed.

White's testimony followed in outline that given at the first Lorimer investigation by the Senate.

Atty. Marble, for the committee, allowed the witness, however, to tell many details not mentioned in that hearing, but published in White's so-called confession in the Chicago Tribune.

Seemingly unperturbed, White told the committee that he had been a member of the Illinois Legislature, was on the witness stand before the Senate Lorimer committee, telling his tale of corruption and when the committee adjourned until tomorrow, his story had not been completed.

Stone in Bladder Removed Without Surgical Operation

Without Surgical Operation

In the Spring of 1904, I was confined to my bed with kidney trouble and thought I would never recover. I took a lot of medicine but it did not realize any benefit from anything. I finally saw Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root advertisement and sent for a sample bottle and thought the sample bottle was a good one. I bought more of the medicine from my Druggist, and after using a few bottles I discharged a very large stone from my bladder.

After passing this stone my health was very much improved and I have been able to continue my business without any serious sickness.

J. L. KNOWLES, Headland, Headland, Headland.

Personally appeared before me this 15th day of September, 1909, J. L. Knowles who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

J. W. WHITDON, Notary Public.

Letter to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y.

From What Swamp-Root Will Do For You.

Send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Los Angeles Daily Times, Regular Advertiser, and one dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

NOT FRIENDLY TO MOUSIE.

See With Landlady, Who Objects to Rodent Ridding Tactics.

(A. F. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

ORANGE, Aug. 1.—(Exclusive)

Fernandes languishes in jail to-night, cogitating and ruminating, and puzzling his brain over the old, old conundrum, "Why is a mouse that spins?"

Mice that spin and squeaked and scurried and did other things not conducive to man's peace of mind and unnecessary to his happiness led Fernandes to commit the act which resulted in his arrest on a charge of malicious mischief. He rented a house of Mrs. Eberhara Dolores, found it infested with mice, tore up the floors, and Mrs. Dolores obtained his arrest. He says he gave permission to remove the floors and do any other necessary thing to rid the place of rodents.

Santa Barbara.

BATTLE CLOUDS
CLEAR FOR HIM.

FOREST SUPERVISOR TO BE GIVEN A HEARING.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 1.—(Exclusive Dispatch.)

The force of public opinion in the southern counties has caused Chief Forester H. S. Brown at Washington to amend his original plan for the dismissal of Forest Supervisor Willis M. Brown of the Santa Barbara forest without a hearing.

Brown has been relieved of his office, but he is not dismissed, nor will he be until there has been a complete investigation. This if all that he has asked, and if he can't show under such an investigation that he is "inefficient," he will be quite willing to lay down the burden.

"I consider this a victory," said Col. Brown yesterday. "It is just what I have been asking for—an unprejudiced investigation independent of the district office at San Francisco. General Inspector Brown has been direct from the Washington office, and I am satisfied that he will give me a square deal. He has promised not only to go into every phase of the administration of the Santa Barbara forest, but to give me a hearing upon such matters as seem to require explanation."

Brown expected things to begin to happen on August 1, which was the date originally set for his dismissal. When the "happening" turned out to be the Chief Inspector's office of Forest Supervisor Brown, the local supervisor was able to get a rift in the clouds, and was pleased with the chance to set things fully and frankly before the Washington office.

PUTS HOLY GHOST APART.

Evangelist at Huntington Beach Methodist Camp-meeting Presents Ideas on Divine Spirit.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 1.—The great audiences which have been hearing Evangelist Brown this week at the Methodist camp-meeting here have to some extent become accustomed to hearing original ideas advanced concerning spiritual matters, but today's assemblage was told as the evangelist's opinion what they had not yet heard—that the Holy Ghost is a real personality, as distinct as God or Christ, with attributes of His own, equally omniscient, omnipresent and all-seeing. The evangelist also imparted his ideas concerning the present condition of the world—that it is in the seventh dispensation, which immediately precedes the millennium, to be followed by eternity.

The Institute for Epworth League work, a leading feature, Rev. Charles Dalton of Berkeley, who was to take a prominent part, has not yet arrived, but is expected soon. The young people are enjoying the athletic sports of the late afternoon and the sport bathing which follows.

PLAN FOR PIER.

At last night's meeting of the local Board of Trade, a committee was appointed to make a preliminary investigation of plans for building a pier at the foot of Main street at a cost of $100,000. Public sentiment appears to favor the building of such a pier with funds to be obtained by bonding the city.

An application for a franchise for building a pier here has been made at the meeting of the city trustees to be held next Monday. All the trustees are favorable to the building of such a pier and there is no doubt that a franchise will be granted to any responsible party.

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 1.—W. F. Clark, a baker of Rochester, today commenced suit in the Superior Court against the Santa Fe Railroad for $1231.45, the damage, which he claims to have sustained by the wrecking of his auto delivery vehicle, by a collision with a train on a crossing.

June 2. He says that the train was going at a reckless rate of speed, and that he was "warned" when given as it approached the crossing.

SHOOTS WIFE AND SLAYS SELF.

SPOUSE DIES OF WOUNDS AT THE COUNTY HOSPITAL.

COLTON, Aug. 1.—David Vandespino shot his wife today and then killed himself. She died a few hours later at the County Hospital.

The tragedy occurred at her home on East 35 street. Vandespino had been working at Perini. He returned home yesterday to find the place deserted. Finding her there later he pleaded with his wife to return to him, and when she refused, shot her with a revolver.

Believing he had killed her, Vandespino went to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. G. W. Mauderfeld, who resides at Tenth and M streets. Kneeling beside her, he told her she was his wife, and that if she would not live with him, neither would he live with any other man.

The woman was shot through the head, the shot entering her mouth, breaking two teeth, she was attended by Dr. J. A. Champion and then taken to the County Hospital. The body of the man was taken to Knoppy's morgue, where a coroner's inquest was held this afternoon.

Mrs. Mauderfeld formerly ran a dance hall in South Colton, and had been closed on account of its unsavory reputation.

R. L. Tiller and Max Zempleng have purchased what is known as the Dr. Hutchinson property at the corner of Eighth and H streets. This property is 150x200 feet, and contains two small houses; consideration $11,000. The buyers intend to build a business block in the future.

Work was begun yesterday on the new $74,000 gas plant, which is to be built on Colton avenue, just south of this city.

Miss Anna Enright, city librarian, has issued the library report for July. Total books issued, 144; fiction, 103; juvenile, 43; miscellaneous, 44; magazines, 102.

ARE MARRIED
FOR FAIR NOW.

NUTRITIONAL VOWS TIED TIGHTER THAN GORDIAN KNOT.

At Santa Ana License Is Issued, Ceremony Performed in Los Angeles, Technical Difficult Follows, and Happy Couple Head Back for Second Marriage.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 1.—It took a preacher and a justice of the peace to tie the knot for Bert Theodore Wilkie, aged 27, of Los Angeles, and Sadie Wheeler, aged 22, of Huntington Beach. The two ceremonies were performed eleven days apart. The second was made necessary by reason of the fact that the first, while it had all the thrills, lacked the binding force of legality.

The license was issued by the County Clerk of this county on July 19. Wilkie did not know that a marriage license could legally be used only in the county in which it was issued. On that point, Rev. Robert Benson, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church of Los Angeles, was as ignorant as Wilkie. Rev. Mr. Benson performed the ceremony in Los Angeles, and Wilkie and his bride had no doubt but what they were as thoroughly married as any couple could be, and they knew no different until they learned that the Recorder of Los Angeles county had refused to record the certificate. Hearing that news, Wilkie seized the document, and with Miss Wheeler, took the first car for Santa Ana, and on their arrival here were married by Justice Cox, who wrote out a new certificate, glued it to the marriage license and straightway recorded it.

WITHDRAW AUTO REWARD.

The Board of Supervisors today voted to withdraw the county's offer of $5 reward for the arrest and conviction of anyone breaking the State law regulating speeding of motor vehicles and the carrying of lights by them at night. The withdrawal of reward is thought to be temporary. The Supervisors granted Sheriff Rudolph a leave of absence from the county to receive his O. K. The Supervisors thought it best to withhold them for the present.

STOCK TRANSFERRED.

The affairs of the Orange County Investment Company are to be wound up immediately, and the business of the company is to be transferred to the National Home & Town Builders of Los Angeles. Stockholders in the Orange County Investment Company are to be paid for their stock in the form of bonds and the stock of the Los Angeles company. Authority was given for the transfer at a meeting of the stockholders here today.

THINK FLOOD DANGER PAST.

HIGH WATER MENACE SEEMS OVER FOR SEASON.

Daily Patrol of the Levees, Which Was Maintained During Danger Period, Is Discontinued—Probability That the Armour Packing Company Will Establish Branch.

EL CENTRO, Aug. 1.—It is now considered that all danger from high waters in the Colorado is passed for this season. The river is falling daily. Engineer C. N. Perry of the Sociedad de Irrigacion, the Mexican wing of the California Development Company, went from El Centro to Volcano Lake today to make an inspection of the levees. He says that these levees have withstood the flood waters and are in good condition, and that but little repair work was necessary during the flood season.

Precautions were taken, however, to keep a daily patrol on the levees, so that within a few hours' time men and teams could have been placed on the work of strengthening them if it had proved necessary. Today the levees will be removed. The Armour Packing Company will establish a branch in the Colorado this season.

NEW LAUNCH FOR RIVER.

The Sociedad de Irrigacion has purchased a new launch for use on the Colorado River and the Alamo. It may also be taken to Volcano Lake for a general tour of inspection of that body of water, now considered considerable dimensions because of the inflow of flood waters of the Colorado River. The new boat is twenty-six feet in length, is fitted with a twenty-five horse-power distillate engine, and will accommodate twenty passengers. The launch is expected to be ready for use in a few days.

It is probable that the Armour Packing Company will open a branch of its extensive business in El Centro in the fall. G. S. Carver, of the Armour company, who is in Los Angeles, has visited the valley on a general tour of inspection and the report is current that he will return soon to make definite arrangements for opening a valley branch of this concern. The Armour company is constantly developing as the great supply point for horses, cattle and sheep for the coast markets, and it is but natural that the large packing company should turn their attention to this district with plans or branch establishments right at the market point of supply.

MORE MONEY LOANED.

The county records show that in Imperial Valley today $100,000 more is loaned on farm properties than at this date one year ago. Capitalists are renewing their confidence in the valley, and it is expected that ranchmen will soon be able to readily secure money for development of their holdings. Insurance of patents to lands, the large packing companies and the government's action in assuming control of the Colorado River, and the action of the people of the valley in voting to form a district have all tended to restore confidence in this valley among outsiders.

The county records show that in Imperial Valley today $100,000 more is loaned on farm properties than at this date one year ago. Capitalists are renewing their confidence in the valley, and it is expected that ranchmen will soon be able to readily secure money for development of their holdings. Insurance of patents to lands, the large packing companies and the government's action in assuming control of the Colorado River, and the action of the people of the valley in voting to form a district have all tended to restore confidence in this valley among outsiders.

COAST PLAYERS LOSE DOUBLES.

Only One Game in Way of Tennis Victory.

McLoughlin and Bundy in Up-hill Battle.

One Little Slip Decides the Result of Match.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
LAKE FOREST (ILL.) Aug. 1.—It will be a case of East versus South in the final round of the national doubles preliminaries tomorrow afternoon at the Onwenta tennis courts, Gustav Touchard and Raymond D. Little of New York having defeated Maurice E. McLoughlin and Harry Martin of Washington, D. C. brothers, defeated C. M. Bull, Jr., and Harry Martin of New York, western champions, 4-6, 6-1, in the first round this afternoon.
The Doyle brothers were masters of the New York team from the start. Bull and Martin did not play half the game they had done in the western tournament last week, and were easy victims for the southerners. The Doyle brothers played perfect team work, that of H. E. Doyle at the net being one of the factors which gave him the victory.
NIP AND TUCK.
The match was filled with tennis of the best grade, and it was nip and tuck between the two pairs from the second set on.
McLoughlin and Bundy were the better individual players, but the team work of Little and Touchard was better.
McLoughlin's unsteadiness in the last set, when he had two chances to win and a third to save the match by taking his own service game, were largely responsible for the defeat of the Pacific Coast team.
Bundy played poorly in the early part of the match and his mechanical work was less excellent than McLoughlin's, but his steadiness in the crisis was what saved the Californians in several instances.
The team work of the easterners was far better than that of the Californians and their victory was deserved. McLoughlin was the greatest individual star in the mechanical part, but his generalship was poor. Had he permitted a hard hit ball to go outside in the last game he would have taken the game and prolonged the match indefinitely and probably would have won for his team.
Touchard and Little both were showing signs of fatigue, while Bundy and McLoughlin apparently were as fresh as when they started.
Little had one of his brilliant days. He outwitted McLoughlin, against whom he was playing, time after time. Touchard also displayed remarkable cleverness.
The damp courts bothered the Pacific Coast team and their team work was poor, while both Little and Touchard played brilliantly.

COL. HORNE OFFERS AVIATION TROPHY

The Long Beach aviation trophy has been put up by Col. William Horn, a wealthy resident of Long Beach, to encourage progress in flying.
The trophy, which will be one of the handiest on the Coast, will be competed for first by Frank Chapman with Earle Remington's pilot, Heriot at Long Beach next Saturday. Conditions governing its award to be arranged by Remington and Long Beach man to be appointed by Col. Horn with a third member of the committee to be selected by them. The terms of competition, as far as stipulated by the donor, will be for the completion of some special aviation feat at Long Beach which will entitle the successful aviator to have his name engraved on the cup. In case the same aviator can place his name on the cup for a certain number of years in succession he will probably be given the trophy outright. These details will be arranged by the special committee tomorrow.

Any one who tries to get by idea that a 100-to-1 shot can be FIVE straight races should be made to bet all his money on the fifth. Consequently those who had bets on the Angels to beat the Tigers yesterday had no bunch to blame themselves for what happened.
The Tigers won easily, simply because Raleigh was better in the line than Halla. In fact, the bird was so uncertain that he was taken out of the game after six runs and seven hits had been made off him in the first five innings of the game. Agnew, who took his place, was fine warm, and kept the Tigers from making any more runs, but they made enough before Ag. got into the game. Inasmuch as Raleigh, net go of the Angels from the start, the locals could not make a show. The Tigers took the lead in the first inning and were never headed.

HOLMES DEFEATS NOBLE IN FEATURE MATCH OF LONG BEACH TENNIS PLAY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.
THE most interesting match in the second day's play of the Long Beach tennis tournament yesterday was that played between "Johnny" Holmes and Ralph Noble in the cool of the evening. It was a hard-fought, closely contested game, which Holmes finally won by 7-9, 9-7 and 6-4.
The men were so evenly matched and both were playing in such good form that the audience could not be lured away all the outcome was finally settled, although it was chilly and all sorts of insinuating perfumes were wafted from the kitchen.
Holmes is particularly nimble and an adept at placing, and Noble's back however, inclined to smash his balls too hard, most of his failures coming through outside driving. He has a swift service, which he emphasizes by leaving his racket.
In her match with Miss Kincaid, Miss Marjorie Tufts succeeded in annexing another notable victory. She played her game steady game throughout the match, never losing an opportunity to score an easy point, and returning the difficult shots with a bang-froid of a veteran.

against Miss Kincaid was an excellent demonstration of the value of steadiness in a close match. Miss Kincaid played fully as well but lost most of her points through hitting a ball too hard, which with careful placing would have given her the point. Miss Kincaid has a fast service and a good forehand chop, but she is not strong in her back hand strokes. It is confidently expected that Miss Kincaid will take her place among the best of the women players in a year or two.
In the morning Miss Kincaid won.

BRASHEAR IS VERNON'S HERO.

Braves Hobo's Life on Train Going Mile a Minute.

Field Out of Window by Feet to Effect Rescue.

Unfortunate Dust-Covered and Too Weak to Walk.

Sound the loud trumpets and blow the big bass with gladness for Roy Brashear, second baseman of the Vernon team, has returned home a hero. He is in line for a Carnegie medal.

Fielded by the ankles while in the train, he leaped out of a Pullman car window at 3 o'clock Monday morning, with the train going at a mile an hour, and picked up the hobo from under the car and saved a life as he was yelling for help.

According to the stories told by the team mates on the Vernon train, he got out of his berth about 1 o'clock Monday morning and went to the water tank in the car for a drink, stepping over the sleeping porter on the way. When he returned to his berth and looked in, he thought he heard a noise like some one calling. After he had laid down, he heard a noise again in rather a muffled way. He thought that some of his team mates were choking or in trouble, and looked out in the aisle of the car, but could see nothing. He heard the cry again and stepped into the aisle and looked in several of the berths, but all the boys were sleeping soundly.

He heard the cry again as he slipped out of his berth the second time, realizing it might have come from some hobo riding in the roof, he used the car window and looked out up toward the roof. As he did the cry came again from below.

Looking down, he dimly saw what looked like a man clinging to a brace that extended along underneath the side of the car.

When the what proved to be a man on the head out of the window, he leaped at Brashear and pulled the bell cord and stopped the train.

"I'm about dead and can't hold on any longer and must fall off if you don't get me," the unfortunate yelled through the dust that enveloped the thing train like a cloud.

Brashear hurriedly withdrew his head into the car and leaning out into the aisle of the car, pulled the bell cord and stopped the train.

The porter was awake by this time. Drummond Brown, hearing the bell got out of his berth and came to where Brashear was. After hitting a monkey for the conductor who never returned Brashear's call, he and the porter to hold his head and as they did he leaped out of the window and landed on the head downward in that cut cloud of dust with the train still moving forward through the night sixty miles an hour, he grabbed one of the number hands of the hobo and pulled.

Finding help from above, the dust-covered hobo released his hold on the number hand and the side of the car and with the aid of Brashear and the porter he was pulled up through the window.

The poor fellow was covered with dust which was kicked on his face and he was as if someone had plastered mud on him. Even his eyes were covered with dust and the dust that looked out from the car resembled shoe buttons in size and color.

Brashear was completely exhausted on his efforts and could render the hobo no assistance. The fellow was pale and numb from the waist down from the exposure. He had been carried to the wash room and required twenty minutes to clean up.

He was put off the train at Bakersfield and now Brashear's team-mates are praising him as a hero who saved a man's life. If one can imagine a man being held by the ankles out of a car window at 2 o'clock in the evening when the train is going sixty miles an hour, he may possibly realize the predicament of Brashear as he was the pilot of the man underneath the car who was saved from a fearful death.

O'ROURKE MAY JOIN ANGELS.

Patsy Is Dissatisfied With Present Job.

Thinks He Is Wanted Here to Replace Dillon.

May Be Let Down Easy if He Does Right Thing.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That the Los Angeles and San Francisco Pacific Coast League teams are after Patsy O'Rourke, the Sacramento captain under suspension for assaulting Umpire Hildebrandt at Stockton Sunday, is the assertion of baseball circles here, and it is believed that before many weeks he will accept an offer of the Los Angeles club which is said to be the most anxious for his services.

Patsy makes no efforts to conceal the fact that he is not satisfied with his present berth.

O'Rourke said today that no direct offers have been made to him, but it is understood on good authority that he was approached in Los Angeles during the last trip south of the Senators. It is pointed out that Dillon is getting too old to handle a winning ball club, and with second base a weak place on the Angels, the acquisition of O'Rourke will be a valuable asset. It is known that O'Rourke desires to get away from Sacramento and he is willing to go to Los Angeles if the club owners will arrange his deal.

While O'Rourke is given credit for his capable management of the Senators this season, he is not a favorite with many of the local fans. Following his assault on Hildebrandt last Sunday, he was suspended, and many of the influential fans have appealed to Charley Graham for his removal.

BERRY SAYS "NIX."

Ben Berry said last night that he had not approached O'Rourke regarding a berth with the Angels and that as a matter of fact he did not want him because he did not need him. He further asserted that he is not planning any changes especially any that would involve Patsy.

WILL GET HEARING.

PATSY MAY GET OFF.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The O'Rourke case is unchanged. Acting on the report made by Umpire Hildebrandt, O'Rourke was suspended, but the president of the league declared he would be glad to hear O'Rourke's side of the case.

The chances are that if O'Rourke makes the right sort of a statement, he will be let down easily and the suspension shortly removed.

HEINE HEITMULLER TO BECOME AN ANGEL.

Manager Henry Berry of the Los Angeles team announced the purchase yesterday of Heine Heitmuller, outfielder, now with the Baltimore team of the Eastern League. Transportation was sent him yesterday with instructions to report to the Angels in San Francisco next week.

Heitmuller is well known to Coast League fans. He began his ball career eight or ten years ago, and first attracted attention as a college player. He appeared in the Coast League as a pitcher and right fielder, and after playing with Oakland for several years, he was purchased by the Philadelphia American League team. In 1909 he played sixty-four games for Philadelphia and hit .245, and the first part of last season in twenty-eight games he was second in batting. In the latter part of the year he was sent to Baltimore, and in thirty-nine games he hit .311.

Hogan tried to buy Heine last year, but could not, and Hap states that as late as Monday he was offered Heitmuller, but did not want him for all of his outfielders are doing well.

HALLA OUT OF FOCUS.

and after the fifth inning the game was a procession. Such conditions do not stir up much enthusiasm generally, and the big majority of the fans simply sat and waited for the end. There were several fine fielding stunts, but nothing that startled anyone.

One of the noticeable things of the game was the appearance of George Wheeler as an umpire, to assist McGreevy. He is being tried out yesterday acted as field umpire, but had only two decisions that were close and the players said he was off color on both of these.

To the surprise of the fans, both Daley and Carlisle muffed a fly ball sent to them and these things are so rare they are worthy of mention. Both were on running chances, and one-half the time the fans are inclined to give such chances as base hits.

Carlisle landed on first base in the first inning when Daley muffed his fly to center field. Walter ran to third where Kane doubted to right field and both scored. A minute later when Brashear hit a hard single to right field, then followed two innings when the muffed fly of Daley could get by, but in the fifth inning they tore into Halla without mercy.

Raleigh singled, but was forced at second by Carlisle. Kane grounded to Moore, who juggled the ball and threw it over Dillon's head. Both runners advanced an extra base on this calamity and scored when Patterson hit to left. Pat stole second and Brashear was passed. Speed McDonnell sacrificed and both runners scored when Hesp hit to right. Burrell ended the inning by fanning out, and Halla was in Manning with the first run.

With one out for the Angels in the first, Manning beat an infield single bounce and got to second when Carlisle sacrificed and both runners scored. Moore and Metzger were passed, forcing in Manning with the first run.

In the sixth Moore singled to center, ran to third on Metzger's hit to left, to third on Delmar's sacrifice fly, and scored when Brown made a wild throw over second base in the attempt to catch Metzger stealing.

THE BIG LEAGUE

BY J. ALER

DELPHIA (Pa.)—[By Spe Correspondent.] A series of between the panath w
the big class. A teams in the

deciding the championship
each season. Of course
series between the winners
American and National Leagu always absorb the major interest, but the contents
the bunting finders in the leagues would create a interest, especially on the East, where the final battle to be waged.

When the what proved to be a man on the head out of the window, he leaped at Brashear and pulled the bell cord and stopped the train.

Brashear hurriedly withdrew his head into the car and leaning out into the aisle of the car, pulled the bell cord and stopped the train.

The porter was awake by this time. Drummond Brown, hearing the bell got out of his berth and came to where Brashear was. After hitting a monkey for the conductor who never returned Brashear's call, he and the porter to hold his head and as they did he leaped out of the window and landed on the head downward in that cut cloud of dust with the train still moving forward through the night sixty miles an hour, he grabbed one of the number hands of the hobo and pulled.

Finding help from above, the dust-covered hobo released his hold on the number hand and the side of the car and with the aid of Brashear and the porter he was pulled up through the window.

The poor fellow was covered with dust which was kicked on his face and he was as if someone had plastered mud on him. Even his eyes were covered with dust and the dust that looked out from the car resembled shoe buttons in size and color.

Brashear was completely exhausted on his efforts and could render the hobo no assistance. The fellow was pale and numb from the waist down from the exposure. He had been carried to the wash room and required twenty minutes to clean up.

He was put off the train at Bakersfield and now Brashear's team-mates are praising him as a hero who saved a man's life. If one can imagine a man being held by the ankles out of a car window at 2 o'clock in the evening when the train is going sixty miles an hour, he may possibly realize the predicament of Brashear as he was the pilot of the man underneath the car who was saved from a fearful death.

Following a conference today between President Russell of the Boston Nationals and Manager Grady of the New York club, an agreement was made that J. Donlin had been sold to Boston. The sale is outright, no other players figuring in the price was not stated.

At London cricket grounds today the Free Foresters beat the Gentlemen cricket club of Philadelphia nine wickets.

Manager Henry Berry of the Los Angeles team announced the purchase yesterday of Heine Heitmuller, outfielder, now with the Baltimore team of the Eastern League. Transportation was sent him yesterday with instructions to report to the Angels in San Francisco next week.

Up of Famous Dancing Partnership of Pavlova and Mordkine Said
Mordkine to Be Due to Pavlova's Jealousy of His Success—Mordkine Coming to America.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

ON, July 27.—With the conclusion of their engagement at the theater here, the stage partnership of Anna Pavlova and Mordkine, the famous Russians, comes to an end. Professional and the artistic partnership are responsible for the
of this probably the most any dancing combination in of the art. Two years ago
out of Russia, one from St.
Petersburg and the other from Moscow, they came to America, and of their native country. In America they took Paris, London, New York and many other cities by storm. Today, undoubtedly, the most representative of the classical dancing.
The dancers have not been happy since their engagement at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, of course, Pavlova was the subordinate member. But she quickly established herself in New York and with her reputation she assumed a equal with that of her partner, according to Mordkine, is one of all the trouble.
Pavlova is reported to have said at one time, "I can find but one world, you can find but one world."

Her wife was a member of the Russian ballet at the Metropolitan and was received favorably, says Mordkine, was not Pavlova's liking. Mordkine, for peace, declared himself as anything to satisfy his and the latter demanded that he be left out of the troupe that was to appear at the Metropolitan for the engagement drawing to a close. Although Mordkine had been engaged to the Palace theater he agreed to step down and to Russia for a week.
The team, opened at the Palace theater went from had to Mordkine insisted that he an equal star with Pavlova.
The management complained that the two dan-cettes in letters of equal size of the troupe. Also in-agement of the dances they right to select the dances.

There was no objection to this

Madam F. Shaw, manager of fitting room and alteration department of the New York Suit and House. Having been a business woman all my life, I have seen at every turn the necessity of the ballot in women's hands, both to assist them in an industrial way and to make laws which will protect women's dearest possession, the home. I have raised two daughters to young ladies, have educated them and have taken them abroad three times, all through my own efforts, and I feel it an injustice that a woman who maintains a family should have no voice in the laws under which she lives, when unlettered foreigners may make these laws.

Mrs. C. Meeker, head of the toilet department of Cutler's: I believe that every woman should have a ballot, as every man has one; since to disfranchise half the people in a country like ours, which was organized upon the principle of "no taxation without representation" seems strangely contradictory.

Mrs. Clara McGee Johnson, assistant manager and buyer for Jacoby Brothers: I believe in the ballot for women because it is the only way to execute their own ideas rather than delegate them to men to execute.
The L. E. Hartung, head of the art goods and notions departments of Hale Brothers: While I would dislike to see women enter into the political scramble, I do believe that they should have a voice in the management of municipal matters.

Mrs. J. E. Hartung, head of the glove department in the Broadway Department Store: Decidedly women have as much right to express their views upon affairs of State as have men; and it is remarkable that they are willing to share without protest for men, as though they were held in some kind of hypnotic spell.

Mrs. S. Lewis, head of the glove department of Hamburger's, and recently a director of the Hamburger Employees' Benevolent Association: Yes; I believe that women should have the ballot, because I think that it would enable them to men to execute.

Timothy department of Brock & Peace: While I object to anything in any way sensational, I do believe that any enactment of laws by women would be for the whole be beneficial to humanity and especially in protection of the home, which is if anything more precious to business women than to any.

Mrs. P. Clarkson, head of demonstration of Jettie's Broadway store:
I certainly wish to have the ballot because I believe that by this means and by this means only, shall we secure the industrial recognition which is our due. When we do the same work as men, we should receive equal pay, and I believe we shall, when we are recognized as citizens.

Mrs. B. E. Bloomer: As a business woman I have not had time to give the question of suffrage serious consideration one way or the other. I have always been convinced, however, that no man has a right to say whether I shall or shall not vote. I believe that women may be as well
qualified to vote as men and should have a voice in laws that control themselves. I believe that they should have something more to say than they have at present with regard to the education of the coming generation.
They are in every way better qualified to determine what is needed in the schools and how the schools should be managed than is the average man.
They are in the hands of the education and training of our children.

Mrs. W. S. Jettie: Right to say whether I shall or shall not vote. I believe that women may be as well
qualified to vote as men and should
have a voice in laws that control
themselves. I believe that they should have something more to say than they
have at present with regard to the

qualified to vote as men and should

WOMEN'S WORK.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY SYDNEY FORD.

The many Los Angeles friends of Miss Anna Hill, for eight years at the head of the preparatory department of the Girls' Collegiate School of this city, will be glad to know of her return from Japan, where she has been engaged in teaching for the past two years. Miss Hill is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of Adams and Hoover streets. She went out to Japan of her own initiative, for the experience and to do missionary work, and has become so charmed with the land of the cherry blossom, and so interested in her educational work there that it is quite likely the call of the Far East will claim her again after a few months in her native land.

During the first year of her stay there, Miss Hill had the department of upper English in a school for girls in Yokohama—the oldest institution of its kind in the Empire, founded by Mrs. Doremus of New York. It is non-sectarian and is of the same grade as our High School. Girls of all ranks, from the daughters of the higher government officials, rich merchants to those in the ordinary walks of life, are admitted to this private school, which is located on the picturesque bluff overlooking Yokohama's water front. The name of the institution is Kijotoko Gakko, which,
if you must have it in English, is simply "Union Girls' School."

Last year Miss Hill gave her services to the "Hillside" or "Plum Blossom School" in Osaka, one of the three imperial cities of Japan and noted as the city of rich merchants. It is the second city in Japan in point of size and commercial importance, and has not infrequently been termed the "Venice of the Far East," owing to the manner in which it is intersected by canals. It is built on the banks of the River Arakawa, about five miles from the sea. The imperial mint is located at Osaka. Of its 1,000,000 inhabitants, there are but 14 foreign women in the city, and in this exclusive private school, Miss Hill was one of the two foreign teachers. Her work was higher English and music.

"The Japanese girls," she says, "are as quick and keen to learn as the American girls, but they have not the initiative, they have to be led. One of the graduates in the department of this year is a young girl, the daughter of one of the prominent families of Osaka—played Gounod's 'Marche Pontificale' as perfectly as any American girl. I was proud of her."

Among the many and interesting souvenirs which Miss Hill brought home with her is a book on "Home Life in Tokyo," written in English by a Japanese scholar. It is printed on the thinnest and finest of rice paper,
—of tough fiber—and so transparent
that each leaf is double with uncut edge. It is beautifully and profusely illustrated in colors and bound in the genuine Japanese style.

During her stay in Japan, Miss Hill gave private instruction in music and in conversational English in the home of a wealthy Japanese banker, who wished his family to acquire a speaking knowledge of the English tongue.
Just before she sailed for home, she was given an elegant dinner in royal Japanese fashion by this Japanese gentleman and his family. Last summer Miss Hill enjoyed a coasting trip along the picturesque Inland Sea of Japan, the party going in a small steamer and landing at various points along the shores of this most beautiful body of water.

Miss Hill will spend the summer
with her sister here.

The War Day by Day Fifty Years Ago

CIX.

August 2, 1861—The U. S. Steamer Albatross Arrived at Philadelphia from Blockading Duty, Having in Tow the Schooner Enchantress, Which Had Been Captured Under Unusual Circumstances.

(Copyright, 1917, by Associated Literary Press.)
FIFTY years ago today there arrived at Philadelphia, in tow of the steamer Albatross, one of the most famous vessels of the southern coast, a schooner, the Enchantress, which had been captured under circumstances somewhat out of the ordinary course.

In the annals of the war at sea are recorded many incidents which to the present generation, living in times of peace, seem like tales of romance or adventure.

That a spirit of adventure was strong in the breasts of the men who sailed to sea against the union on the ocean, is evident. They knew they must put their lives in the balance against the strength of a large and active navy, the ships of which were scouring the seas in quest of all craft sailing under the stars and bars of the confederacy.

A chase might mean death, from hostile shots or from drowning. Capture would surely entail a long imprisonment, and the charge of piracy and treason, since in the early stages of the war the United States government refused to recognize confederates taken on the sea as prisoners of war.

These things notwithstanding, there were plenty of men to be found, on the wharves and levees of the south, eager to embark on the perilous voyage. At Savannah, Charleston and New Orleans, to prey on northern commerce.

Most of these men were stranded sailors, marooned by the blockade, which had robbed them of their occupation. They were all equipped for little. Some were of foreign birth, and had sailed under many flags. Others were from the north. Not a few had served on slaveships. All were "broke," idle and keen for a chance again to smell the salt of the ocean, to watch how the wind presses out the hard white canvas above them, and to hear the splash of the waves under the bow of their craft.

Such men as these had manned the privateer Jefferson Davis, formerly the slave brig Echo, which had sailed from Charleston June 24, and fifty years ago this time was making captures of northern vessels even as far north as Nantucket shoals.

On July 5, within 250 miles south-east of Nantucket, the Jefferson Davis brought to a coasting schooner, deeply laden. She proved to be the Enchantress, Capt. John Devereux, a meat little craft with two masts, owned in Newburyport, Mass., and bound from Boston to Santiago de Cuba with a general cargo.

The prize was a valuable one for the confederates. For the goods from Massachusetts, valued with the vessel at $10,000, could be sold to fine advantage in Charleston.

According to the schooner's papers the cargo consisted of seventy-five sacks of corn, 400 barrels of mackerel, 170 prime beef, fifty boxes of 250 half boxes of candles, 23,000 feet of white pine boards, 200 covered bams, thirty barrels of lard, fifty barrels of clear pork, 200 quarters of soap and a package of glassware.

It was worth the effort of trying to take her out of the United States blockade into port. To this end Capt. Devereux and crew of five men, which included his son, were transferred, prisoners, to the deck of the Jefferson Davis. The rest of the crew were placed on the schooner, with instructions to head for Charleston.

Of the prize crew the captain was Walter W. Smith, a Savannah pilot. One of the sailors, Eben Lane, was from Cape Cod, and another, Thomas Quigley, was from New York, and a third, E. Rochford, was from Liverpool. The remaining man, Dan Stullman, was from Charleston.

It chanced that the cook of the Enchantress was a negro, and this fact decided the fate of the prize crew. The captain, who would retain him on board, for he would bring a good price as a slave in Charleston. "He'll fetch $1500," said the prize captain. He was 35, and a native of Santa Cruz.

The presence of this negro on board was to contribute to the success of the adventure in charge of the Enchantress. From the moment the schooner was away and started company with the Jefferson Davis, the cook, whose name was Jacob Garlick, bided his time with plans for escape. Although he could know nothing of it, such a thing was done while he was thinking about it, by a negro boat on another northern prize, the Confederate, the schooner S. J. Warren, by the killing of three men with a knife.

Garlick saw no opportunity as the day went by to effect his purpose, and he watched and waited, hoping that one of "Mars Lincoln's" ships would come along and rescue him. Meanwhile another man in the ship's company was doing more than mere thinking toward defeating the plans of the adventure. This was the New Englander, Eben Lane.

Although he had shipped on a southern privateer, he could not bring himself to aid in carrying a vessel from his home section into a southern port.

So, whenever he was at the wheel in the night he allowed the other men to watch with him to sleep, while he steered the vessel off her course and headed north. This had the result of causing the vessel to be beyond the limit set by Capt. Smith, and, although the vessel had been captured on July 6, it was not until July 23 that it reached Cape Hatteras.

This proved to be Cape Hatteras. It was seen in the morning. The ship was observed, and the Enchantress was ordered to stop. The vessel was surrounded by a fleet of warships, and the Enchantress was ordered to stop. The vessel was surrounded by a fleet of warships, and the Enchantress was ordered to stop.

From the cook's story, told at the trial for piracy of the men, then, the Enchantress is able to indicate that in Robert Louis Stevenson's "The Wreckers" from what went aboard on the deck of the schooner she was being overhauled by the war steamer. The court record of the negro's testimony thus sets forth what passed:

Q. When the steamer was approaching you did you hear the defendant (Capt. Smith) or any of these men make any arrangements about what they would do?

A. One was to act in place of the captain with his name, another in the place of the mate with his name, and so on through the crew.

Q. Was there not one last of these men?

A. Yes, they were one short.

Q. What about that?

A. I heard that they were to say that man was washed overboard.

In Fear of Slavery.
As the steamer drew near the Stars and Stripes were run up to her main top. The schooner responded promptly by showing the same colors.

From the court record (to be found in the Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies, series 2, vol. 1, page 153) it is possible to follow what went on at this critical juncture in the voyage of the Enchantress.

An order was now given by Capt. Smith to make more sail, by putting on a flying jib. The men objected, saying that the sailing of sail at this time would cause them to be suspected.

At this point the cook, who was furiously watching the approaching steamer, was ordered below by Capt. Smith. He said he would like to remain in his galley, which was a square house on the deck.

Into the galley went the negro, in trembling fear of being sold into slavery, and from its door—there was one on either side—he watched the approaching steamer, first on one side, then on the other.

Another went from one tack to another, in an effort to perform the feat of sailing the vessel as "clawing off."

Soon the steamer was within hail, and the negro, peering from his galley door, he heard thumping sails in his breast, heard the voice of the commander on her bridge:

"Ahoy! What schooner is that?"

The answer from the schooner was prompt, and apparently sincere:

"Enchantress, Boston, for St. Jago de Cuba."

The Cook's Turn Comes.
The cook now felt his turn had come.

The answer to the hail had hardly reached the steamer when the voice of the negro, keyed to a pitch that was little less than a scream, cried out across the tumbling water:

"Don't believe 'em, cap'n! She's been captured by the Jeff Davis! She's bound for Charleston! Save me, cap'n, save me!"

With this the man leaped into the sea, and struck out swimming for the Albatross. Happily for him the men on the Enchantress had no small arms handy. His black head continued to bob up and down until he was out of range.

The official log of the Albatross (Naval Records volume 1, page 153) tells the story of the capture of the Enchantress. The log concludes the narrative of this part of the affair:

"Turned our guns on her and ordered her to heave to. She heaved to, and a boat aboard with Lieut. Neville, picking up the negro on the way. Boat returned at 2 with the schooner's crew of five men. Put the crew in double irons and sent Master's Mate (Thos. D.) Wendell and five men to take charge of her, with negro who belonged to the schooner when captured."

Tried as Pirates.
Many weary months were to pass before the men taken from the Enchantress would be free to breathe again the free air of the ocean. As pirates they were to be thrown into a prison in Philadelphia, there to lie through the heat of summer, only to be brought into court in the fall and held for their trial before a jury on the charge that they "fiddled with force of arms, practically, feloniously and violently set upon, boarded and entered a certain schooner called the Enchantress."

The original crew of the Enchantress, having been liberated by the captain of the Jefferson Davis, were on hand to identify them as part of the privateer's crew.

Capt. Smith was first arraigned, and after a short trial was found guilty of piracy. The others of the crew were also found guilty with the exception of Eben Lane, whose case was given to the jury without any plea. The privateer, it being ratified by the government. He was found not guilty on the ground that "it was alleged that Lane, who had charge of steering the Enchantress as one of the prize crew, steered south in the daytime and north by night when he was not observed, thereby keeping her longer on the ocean and conducing to her capture."

For Tomorrow, Congress Authorized an Inquiry Into the Merits of Iron-Clads.

CANT DELIVER ON TIME.
Company Having Contract to Furnish Rock for Redondo-Wilmington Road Would Surrender Plant.

Because it could not fulfill its contract to furnish 25,000 tons of rock to the county within the specified time, for the improvement of the Redondo-Wilmington highway, the P. S. Venetian Company yesterday offered to surrender its plant to the county, relinquish its claim to the 500 tons of rock already on the road, and allow the Highway Commission to operate its plant until the rock is exhausted or the contract fulfilled.

The offer met with the approbation of Engineer Joyner and was recommended by the Highway Commission, who discussed it with the supervisors. Deputy District Attorney Hanna was instructed to draw up a suitable contract.

Joyner believes that an expenditure of $1500 would put the quarry in operating shape, and that rock can be sold out at 60 cents a ton, or 25 cent less than the contract price agreed upon with the Venetian Company. If the supply is 5000 tons short, as Joyner says it may be, he believes the balance could be quickly at Picoles.
